Okay, forget it. I can't do Fat Smash again right now. (I know you're laughing now - it was only yesterday I told you I'm back at it!) I had a good day at Fat Smash yesterday, but today I almost gagged at the thought of eating rice and beans or, frankly, anything on this diet. The fear was so intense that I couldn't even eat lunch today and now I feel low blood sugar attacking coming. Obviously a full blown, fat smash detox isn't for me right now. But going fat Smash earlier this summer has a long-term effect: I now really understand how important it is to eat less carbs and little fat when dieting. I've always watched my calorie intake, but I've never paid so much attention to fat. Given that I've had success on Fat Smash for the few weeks I've been on it, I'm definitely going to use my principles in the future. So while I'm not going to do a fat smash as such right now, I'm going to eat a very low fat, with lots of fruits and vegetables. I'm not going to beat myself up if I eat a random piece of turkey or even (God forbid!) a piece of whole wheat bread. But I'm going to avoid white sugar at all costs. I know for a fact that white sugar is bad for me - it makes me gain weight, it gives me abdominal pain and it makes me crave more. So no sugar!!!! Wish me luck. How good I was today: Egg white omelette for breakfast without bread or potatoes! How bad I was today: Had one piece of wheat bread with turkey for lunch, but I don't think it's that bad. What I avoided today: the full fat Starbucks cappuccino I wanted. Got a skim one instead and glad I did. But OnDot, a startup emerging from hidden mode Thursday, aims to give cardholders more control over their payments, allowing them to activate and deactivate cards, as well as set rules for location, types of transactions, trading categories, and spending limits with an app called CardControl. What we have done is create a solution that allows consumers to essentially use their phones as a remote control to control their payment cards, co-founder and CEO Vaduvur Bhargavan told Fast Company. With the click of the app, you can turn the map on and off. You can specify when, where and how this card can be used. OnDot has been quiet for three years, creating an app for and credit card processors to allow consumers to manage their debit and credit cards. Along with the launch of CardControl, which financial institutions can brand and integrate into their existing applications, the San Jose company announced it has raised $18 million in funding from private investors to encourage adoption and build its marketing and Command. OnDot already has partnerships with four of the seven major card processors and about 10,000 banks and credit unions in U.S.As early partner, McAllen, Texas-based Lone Star National Bank, which manages $2 billion in assets, has seen a 60% reduction in fraud costs- from $450,000 to $180,000 during the year of CardControl implementation. During the same period, the bank reported a 48% increase in costs and a 54% increase in transaction volume. The reason, Bhargavan noted, is that buyers feel more confident in the security of the bank's payment cards. Cardholders are switching from another card to this CardControl-enabled card, he said. Toluna Toluna is a company that uses the influence of members to shape the development of products and services. When you become An Impact Toluna, you get to share your opinion about the products. Most Toluna polls take 15 to 20 minutes. As the polls are completed, you will receive bonus points. You can use your Toluna bonus points to get free gifts or free gift card vouchers. Toluna has gift card vouchers from Amazon, PayPal and more. You can also use your glasses to enter Toluna tote drawings. Buying Apps Some of the other apps mentioned in this article will also pay you to shop. The Less, some of these apps may have higher payouts because they are designed solely to reward you from shopping online or in person. 15. Rakuten Rakuten is arguably the largest online shopping app. Formerly known as Ebates, this app gives you the ability to earn between 1% and 40% cashback in more than 2,000 stores. And many of the stores are stores that you will be shopping for anyway. They also give you you to earn cash in person in more than 30 shops and restaurants. While you can also shop through the Rakuten web browser, they offer higher cashback rates when you use your mobile app. You can earn an extra $10 bonus after your first $25 purchase with Rakuten. Once your remuneration balance reaches $5, you will be able to redeem your gift cards for cash. Or, you can also redeem them for gift cards for a higher value! Read our Rakuten review here. 16. Fetch Awards Fetch Awards app will help you earn points every time you scan the receipt after purchase. You can earn points every time you buy a participating product or a special product offer. The list of participating products is long and includes many products that you buy and use every day. And you can earn points for links to friends who sign up and use the app too. You can use the points you earn to get gift cards from your favorite stores. Or you can get an entertainment gift card or Visa/Mastercard gift card as well. 17. Ibotta Did you know that you can earn gift cards for grocery stores? It's true! The Ibotta app will not only allow you to enjoy your savings in the store when you swipe the grocery store loyalty card, but, you can also earn extra cash back by buying featured products in the app. You can get money to buy a specific product like Crest toothpaste or Oscar Mayer hot dogs while other offers will pay you regardless of brand as long as you buy milk, bread, or fresh fruit. All you have to do is scan your grocery store receipts and you will earn cash rewards that can be redeemed for gift cards, PayPal, or Venmo cash. In addition to making money for purchases at almost any grocery store and pharmacy, you can also earn additional rewards for being in-app shopping online and for in-person shopping at your favorite brick-and-mortar stores and restaurants. Read our Ibotta review here. 18. Shopkick Shopkick is a fun app that allows you to earn free gift cards without having to purchase. All you need is to download the app on your smartphone (iOS version or Android version) and then make sure its location services are enabled so that Shopkick knows which store you are visiting. In the Shopkick app, you can complete tasks in each store by scanning the barcodes of selected items and ensuring the current sale price. If you make a purchase, you will also get extra points for the purchase amount too. This can be a great way to get money to the store or way to get exercise by walking down the aisles of the store. Your glasses can be redeemed for gift cards in most shops and restaurants. And, most new Shopkick members earn their first gift card during the first week of membership, so you can immediately be rewarded for your efforts! 19. SavingStar SavingStar is another rewarding program that gives you grocery discounts. You can earn bonus points with SavingStar by linking store cards to your SavingStar account. Then you go to the app and choose You're interested. Make sure to use the store card when you check. Your SavingStar rewards are then added to your SavingStar account. Once you have earned at least $20 in rebates you can cash out. SavingStar usually pays through PayPal or a direct deposit to your bank account. However, you can also choose to get a gift card code for Starbucks, iTunes or AMC Entertainment. Payments occur within 24-48 hours of your request. 20. TopCashback TopCashback is another cash trading portal that allows you to get a percentage of the purchase back in the form of cash or gift card in more than 4000 stores. You can earn cash back when you shop online or use their app as six million users around the world now. While you may choose to receive a payout as a PayPal cash or direct deposit, you will receive a 3% bonus when you request payment with an American Express gift card. A gift card can be more valuable than cash and other retail gift cards because these prepaid cash cards are accepted anywhere you can make a credit or debit card purchase. 21. The National Consumer Group National Consumer Group is another app that makes it easy to earn free gift cards. Unlike most apps where you have to activate rewards offers before you shop, you can scan the barcodes of the products you buy after you get home from your smartphone. This flexibility can be handy if you want to minimize your shopping time because you have young children or sometimes forget to check out the app before you shop, so miss out on bonus opportunities. ☺ you can also earn additional bonus points for responding to online surveys in the NCP app. Your points can be entered for weekly, monthly and quarterly prize draws for gift cards, cash and merchandise. As a member of the National Consumer Group, you can also get a 25% discount on the wireless ATT plan and accessories for your phones. 22. Receipt Pal Another cool app for its flexibility for earning and redeeming points is Receipt Pal (which is available on both Android and iOS). They are one of the very few apps that take receipts for almost any purchase, making it easy to be rewarded for all your weekly purchases. You'll get bonus points for sharing an image of your receipt when you buy coffee in the morning, take the family out for dinner, or even get the butter changed. Just as it is super easy to be rewarded for every purchase you make, you can also redeem gift cards in many different stores. They even offer $1 to Amazon Cards. 23. CheckPoints CheckPoints can also be classified in the first section of this article because you can earn points through a variety of tasks including surveys, internet searches, and watch videos. But, you can also earn bonus points for scanning barcodes as you browse the grocery aisles. This is something that other multitasking sites like Swagbucks do not offer. Your points can be exchanged for gift cards in your favorite stores. And, you can also enter prizes for gift cards, shopping and other prizes. 24. Receipt Hog Receipt Hog is another app that makes it easy to earn bonus points on every purchase that can be used for free gift cards. All you have to do is take a picture of your receipt and you will earn coins rewards for each scanned receipt. You can also earn bonus coins by responding to surveys in the app and rotating Hog Slots. Your coins can be redeemed for Amazon gift cards, PayPal and free magazines. The app is available for all Apple and Android devices. 25. Mobee Mobee makes it easy to make money with a secret purchase. In the Mobee app, you can apply for a mission to evaluate local stores and restaurants at the time of purchase. It only takes a few minutes to answer five to ten questions to complete every minute and earn enough money to buy a cup of coffee, according to Mobee. Your Mobee bonus points can be redeemed for gift cards at your favorite retail stores, as well as for PayPal cash gift cards. 26. Honey Do you want to earn Amazon gift cards while shopping online? Honey is an app that uses a unique twist on cash rewards, earning between 1% and 15% on your entire online purchase. The only catch is that you don't know how much you will earn until after the sale is completed. Where other cashback portals use a fixed-rate rewards system where you can get 1% to 40% back on the entire order, your Honey reward rate depends on which item, where other cashback portals use a fixed-rate remuneration system where you can get between 1% and 100% back on the entire order, your reward rate with Honey depends on the price of what items you buy. For example, you can get 4% cash back on your online order from Target, but, Honey can give you 1% cash back on your shirt and 55% cash back on a pair of shoes you ordered. But, you won't know until the purchase has been completed. Honey is the proverbial two in the bushes, as opposed to one in hand with traditional cashback applications. In addition to earning cash back that can be exchanged for Amazon gift cards, Honey will also help you save money with two other methods. Automatically enter all the known coupon codes at checkout to find the best discount in Amazon's secondCompare prices for products with third-party listings to find the best deal If you like shopping on Amazon and thought joining Amazon Prime was the only way to save money, it just might become your favorite app. Read our Honey review here. Focusing Apps The fourth category of apps that allows you to earn free gift cards is to use an app that only on a specific task. For example, you can earn another app, watch a video or even surf the Internet. You can consider these apps because they can offer content that flexible, paid apps can't access. Or, these apps have a higher payout per task because they only allow you to earn gift cards for a particular store. 27. Rewarding Microsoft for using the Bing search engine on your computer or mobile device with the Microsoft Rewards. Microsoft, also offer additional bonus points with daily quizzes and promotional offers. Bonus points can be redeemed for a Microsoft Store loan that allows you to buy music, movies, games, and Microsoft software. You can really earn points every time you put a search term in the browser's address bar! 28. Google Opinion Awards Google Opinion Awards Allows you to earn free Google Play credits. This is the official Google app to pay you for your opinion and you will earn $1 credit for each survey. Topics are usually Related to Google (go figure!) as you may ask what logo design is best, what marketing offers is most appealing, or how you plan to use Google services in the future. 29. AppNana If you like to download and test the latest apps and games, AppNana will give you rewards for every app and game you download and use. The choice is constantly changing, so it can be an evergreen way of earning points that can be redeemed for gift cards for Amazon, iTunes, Google Play, and Xbox stores. You don't have to keep every app you test, but I'm sure there are a few that you'll keep and continue to use! 30. Luckastic Luckastic is a free rewards app that lets you win tokens, gift cards, goods and cash with random games. All you have to do is download the app and you will get a set of daily scratch-off tickets that can contain a prize. At a minimum, you will get coins that can be redeemed for gift cards by more than 30 major brands, even if you do not win the actual prize. Another quick way to increase the balance of points is to direct the other. Once they play their first game on Luckastic, you earn 1000 bonus points! So far Luckastic has given away more than $3 million in prizes. Download Luckastic for iOS or Android. Read our full review at Luckastic here. 31. Slidejoy Slidejoy lets you view ads (maps) on your Android phone, where the direction of your thumb slide determines if you like or dislike an ad. The card will be displayed when you access the phone's lock screen. Sliding to the left means you like the map and will allow you to explore it further. Sliding to the right deflects the map. To prevent misleading consumer opinions, Slidejoy pays the same amount as you like or don't like advertising, so be honest. Bonus points can be redeemed for gift cards, PayPal in cash, or donated to charity. One of the drawbacks of Slidejoy is that it is only available to Android users at this time. 32. CoSign CoSign is a unique app because you earn bonus points by selling your favorite clothing brands. Application Allows you to earn points through three following options: As your following at CoSign grows, you'll earn more rewards points as more people view pictures of you wearing high quality clothes. In each picture, you can mark specific items of clothing that all visitors view items on the real person in their daily lives, rather than a dummy or image item hanging on the display rack. You can your bonus points for gift cards and cash. And you can upload photos through the Android or Apple app. You don't have to physically maintain an inventory of clothes to send when ordering, as it's a form of affiliate marketing where you're the average person and just earn a commission every time a person buys the item of clothing you recommend. This is a great opportunity if you are a fashion blogger like CoSign can be another way to expand your audience. 33. AppTrailers AppTrailers is an app that will pay you points for viewing trailers for apps. Every time you watch a trailer, you earn points. If you download a new app after watching the trailer and use it, you can then use your glasses to get free gift cards for places like iTunes, Sephora and Amazon. The AppTrailers app is available on Apple and Android. Summary Of Earning Cash Is nice. However, sometimes earning a gift card can be more profitable, as you can earn a higher reward rate. In addition, if you are going to immediately turn around and spend cash in your favorite store and restaurant, the choice of gift card is just as valuable and can be just as convenient. It doesn't matter what you do on your smartphone. I think there is most likely an app that will help you earn free gift cards every day of the week.
